Membership Committee Update

The October Membership Committee meeting was replaced with the First Annual Health and Wellness Fair, held October 14th. The event was a great success with 35 vendors in participation, and over 250 attendees during the 3-hour fair.

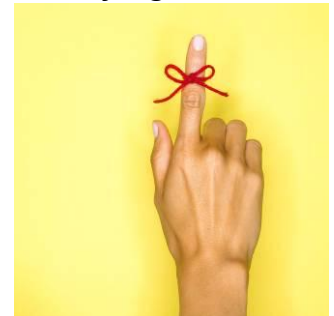

Many thanks to all of the 2010 Health and Wellness Fair sponsors: Lloyd Center, Alliance Portland Neighborhood Business Association (APNBA), Safeway and Ambridge Event Center. Each vendor represented a single specialty and included Legacy Health, Trader Joe's, Walgreen's, Zama Massage, Costco, The Vitamin Shoppe, Calaroga Terrace and Dr. Flores, just to name just a few.

A very special thank you goes to Membership Committee Member Heather Amaya, (Lloyd Athletic Club) who was the primary force behind the idea and the organization of the event!

Vendors gave overwhelmingly positive feedback on the great location and the attendance. We have a great foundation to build upon this event in future years.

Don't forget...

Submit committee updates and news ideas as soon as you have them. Keep your LDCA neighbors in the loop!

November Guest Speaker, Naomi Cole Talks EcoDistricts

An EcoDistrict is a district or neighborhood that has committed to achieving ambitious sustainability performance goals over time. The EcoDistricts Initiative is a comprehensive strategy to accelerate sustainable development at the neighborhood scale by integrating building and infrastructure projects with community and individual action. The Initiative was launched in 2009 by the Portland Sustainability Institute (PoSI) in partnership with the City of Portland, Oregon to advance the regional sustainability agenda.

Naomi Cole is a Program Manager for the Portland Sustainability Institute and leads the EcoDistricts Initiative. She is responsible for EcoDistricts concept and program development, management of the Technical Advisory Committee, creating the EcoDistricts Toolkit, and overseeing implementation in five pilot districts. Prior to PoSI she worked as a sustainability consultant with Konstrukt and as Sustainability Coordinator at ZGF Architects. She has an interdisciplinary background in architecture, environmental science, and urban studies.
